"As President of the Australasian Radiation Protection Society it is my pleasure to provide this testimonial as to the competency of Leishman Associates with respect to their abilities to manage and provide for our needs as a scientific association holding annual conferences and preparing for our largest events, the Asian and Oceanic Congress on Radiation Protection in Melbourne in May 2018, and the International Congress on Radiation Protection in 2019 in Adelaide.

As an Association we have worked with Leishman Associates for many years and have always been grateful for their professionalism and innovation in delivering our conferences. ARPS has benefitted from the experience and adaptability of a number of Paula's team over the years, and our conference has gone from strength to strength under their guidance.

Irrespective of where our conferences are, the team at Leishman Associates go above and beyond our expectations. I commend them to any organisations needing conference management in any way."

Brad Cassels, Australasian Radiation Protection Society
